

How to Be a Successful College Student

1. Make the most of college resources

Visit the library

Use career services for help in securing internships

Ask the campus writing center for assistance

2. Use tools to stay organized

• Day planners

• Smartphone apps

3. Create weekly schedules

Plan out time for studying, work, exercise, relaxation and sleep

4. Utilize Office Hours

Professors can answer questions, discuss grades and are great sources of recommendation letters

5. Study groups

Join or create a study group that meets throughout the semester

STUDY HABITS

- For select courses in STEM fields you have to practice problems again and again to master the method, unit conversions, using mathematical formula etc.
- Studying is not staring at your notes. Actively engage in writing out important material as you remember better.
- Balance work and study. While you may need to work to earn and support your education, remember that you need to make time to attend classes, learn, study and do homework.
